

Integration Point Global Trade Management Recognized for Assisting Companies in Their Green Supply Chain Efforts

Charlotte, NC, November 4, 2009 – [Integration Point[®], Inc.](#), a provider of global trade compliance solutions, has been recognized in the 2009 Supply & Demand Chain Executive Green Supply Chain Award issue. The recognition of Integration Point for this type of award is further proof that paperless trading is becoming a reality. Organizations are constantly looking for ways to not only improve compliance but meet the demands of electronic information sharing with trading partners and regulatory agencies.

All of the Integration Point solutions support paperless transactions and thus help companies move towards being more “green” in their global trade management practices. Traditionally, moving goods across borders has been a paper-intensive process, but automating this process eliminates much of the waste. By scanning and electronically storing these documents into the Integration Point solution companies eliminate paper documentation, and have immediate access to the information giving them the confidence that compliance requirements are being met. As a result, manual filing and processing time is significantly reduced.

In particular, Integration Point Supply Chain Compliance provides companies with a web-based tool to track their and their supplier’s adherence to social and environmental responsibility practices. Using Integration Point Supply Chain Compliance, companies solicit suppliers to analyze, assess their use of green practices, and assign a compliance score based on the answers to calculate a risk factor for each supplier.

“We are honored to be recognized for our commitment to providing solutions that assist companies with staying ‘green’ in their supply chains,” said Ned Chamberlain, Vice President of Solutions Delivery at Integration Point, “Integration Point Global Trade Management is built on a Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) platform to provide needed tools to manage importing and exporting processes as well as supply chain compliance and security to our global customers.”
