

Validate the security of your global supply chain without leaving your office

Integration Point C-TPAT Certification is a piece of Integration Point Supply Chain Compliance that assists organizations with the electronic collection, standardization, and organization of supplier information to efficiently manage and analyze security risks within the global supply chain.

C-TPAT Certification

Gaining C-TPAT certification can be a time-consuming and paper-intensive process. However, using Integration Point C-TPAT Certification reduces the time and eliminates the piles of paper generated during certification.

A Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) technology, Integration Point C-TPAT Certification provides:

- Enhanced communication channels to ensure security measures in your domestic and international supply chains are followed
- Targeted workflow technology that gives users the ability to electronically route requests for supplier data without the burden or cost of paperwork
- Increased ability to leverage mutual recognition by maintaining all supplier data in one platform allowing organizations to achieve certification for US C-TPAT or any other country's security program such as Canada's PIP or the WCO's AEO
- Customizable inquiries that allow users to build profiles using a set of baseline questions that can be customized to include company-specific questions
- Immediate progress monitoring to assist with the analysis of supplier security profiles
- Complete visibility of each supplier's compliance with government regulations, social and environmental laws, and Best Practices

Benefits of Automation

Organizations that participate in the C-TPAT certification program using the Integration Point software have experienced the following benefits of automation:

- Elimination of manual tracking of supplier data and risk factors
- Documentation is electronically attached to individual supplier records and retained for easy retrieval during the validation process
- Compliance with ISA guidelines and the Sarbanes-Oxley Act is improved
- On-demand access to supplier data via a secure website
- Ability to analyze supplier risk factors as individual profiles are being completed
- Avoidance of recalls and fines due to security threats within the supply chain
- Reports can be customized to assist with risk gaps analysis
